By 15 May damaged buildings of the locomotive repair section of the P'yŏngyang Railroad Control Bureau in the P'yŏngyang railway yards had been rebuilt and an underground shelter constructed for the section. Section equipment included one eight-foot lathe, one arc-welder, one gas welding torch, and one Japanese five-horsepower generator. In mid-May the section was repairing 12 freight cars and two locomotives. O Kye-sim (0702/2710/1800) was director of the section; NO Pong-kon (4151/7685/0981), assistant director; AN Pyŏng-kyu (1344/3521/0964), chief engineer; YI Pong-kyu (2621/7685/0964), technical assistant; and SO Ki-sŏp (1776/1015/3610), foreman. The section employed approximately three hundred persons.
